

Build an Application for Equity in my Business!

I am seeking a very talented web developer/web development firm to build a custom application in exchange for an equity position in my company. Upon execution of a confidentiality agreement, I will send you a RFP and business write up. The RFP details the design and development requirement, while the write up of the business explains the valuation and equity distribution for services rendered.

We have received several quotes for the project, ranging from 25-40k. Our goal is to pay for development by offering an equity position (stock/shares) in our company in lieu of cash.

The core competency of the company is peer to peer equity financing. We will be operating in a large emerging market while competing against few competitors. The opportunity is lucrative and our chosen partner will be positioned for a large payout on exit/acquisition.

We welcome creative and talented risk takers to join us in building not only a best in class application, but also contribute to building a great business. If you can afford building an exceptional website for future returns instead of a cash payment, contact me for directly at guidone1983@gmail.com I will respond promptly with the confidentiality agreement and more details about the project.

Best,
